Clear Up Burglaries At Frankfort And Mokena

Several burglaries in Mokena and Frankfort, along with others in Will county, were solved last week when 10 young men were taken into custody by Joliet and Will county police.

Arrested were George Williams Jr., 20 of 125 Davison St., Jerry DiDomenic, 18, of 1224 Dora Ave.; Walter Krochmal, 18, of 1229 Arthur Ave.; James Parker, 18, of 420 North Ave., Lockport; Herbert A. Krueger, 19, of 159th St., Route 1; Ronald E. Molaschi, 18, of 1030 Gardner St. and Kenneth Cantile, 19, of 410 E. Jackson St., all of Joliet. Taken into custody by Ottawa, Ill., police were Dennis Grachan, 18 of 1221 Fairview Ave.; Albert Posego, 20, of 1311 Ada St., and Daniel Morse, 34, of 1212 Wisconsin St., all of Joliet.

Posego admitted the following break-ins: the Park and Shop Supermarket, Mokena; the Charles Swanberg Implement store, Mokena; the Standard Industry Compound Co., office in Frankfort, the Roodliner Supermarket in Channahon and the office of Brown and Lambrecht on Gougar road, near Joliet.

Posego, accompanied by Parker, DiDomenic and Krochmal, burglarized the Sitton Septic Tank Co., offices, Route 7, northeast of Lockport; the Lubick Welding shop and the Dari-Castle, both on Route 4-A and a West Jefferson St., lumberyard in Joliet, he is alleged to have confessed.

Police said DiDomenic also told them he and Grachan were responsible for the break-in of the Hercules Aluminum Co., on Industry Ave., Joliet.

Krueger admitted to city police that he broke into Trackman Auto Supply, 844 Plainfield road; the Grohar tavern 1014 Woodruff road; the Midway Oil Co. at 807 Plainfield Rd.; and the Lennon Wallpaper Co., 807 Fourth Ave., all in Joliet.

In these four offenses he implicated DiDomenic, Posego, Grachan, Cantile Molaschi and Williams in the various burglaries and the arson cases. Arson instances include a vacant home on Rowell avenue, the Union school at Mills and Cherry Hill Rds., and the Krueger car.

Krueger was also charged with falsifying a report made to Joliet city police recently, Krueger had reported his car stolen and burned. Williams, however, told sheriff's police that the car was set on fire with Krueger's knowledge after it was stripped of its accessories.

Frankfort Acts To Plug Hole In Sewer Revenues

Decisions on how to bill the residents of the village of Frankfort on water and sewer rates and how to overcome a prospective deficit in the operation of the new sewage plant were made Monday night at a regular meeting of the village board of trustees, in the village hall.

Present at the meeting to explain the anticipated income and expenditure from the sewage plant was Gilbert Bosnik from the bonding house.

Bosnik said the gross revenue from water and sewerage rates for the two months it has been in operation, November and December, was $4,971. Multiplied by six, the anticipated income would be $29,828 annual plus a small percentage in addition to this figure, making a total of $32,811. Operating expenses incurred during the two months were $1,270 or $14,504 a year, interest on bonds will be $14,000 and $4,000 will go into the bond reserve as well as $3,000 into the depreciation fund. This leaves a deficit of $2,700 for the year on a projected basis.

To offset this figure, it was voted upon by the trustees to pay half of Victor Eisenbrandt's salary and two thirds of Town Clerk Walter Pfaff's salary out of the general corporate fund instead of the water and sewer fund. Eisenbrandt is the operator of the sewage plant.

Pfaff will mail out the first water and sewer bills to Frankfort residents this Saturday.

Robert Hamilton, village engineer, was directed to check the list of water and sewer users and to recommend adjustments in rates to the board.

One problem before the trustees was how to charge for an establishment that was only open seasonally or a house which stands vacant until another tenant moves in. It was voted unanimously by the board to bill a seasonal establishment for just the sewer rates while the business is closed. Although the water is shut off, sewer facilities remain available in case of flooding or other water damage. In cases where owners of vacant homes refuse to pay sewer rates while the house is empty, the trustees agreed that the water would not be turned back on, until sewage bills were paid to date by the property owner.

Fred Allen, foreman for D'-Andrea Construction company, told the board that an adjustment in contract construction rates might possibly come when a sewer line consisting of a 540 foot section in the southeast portion of Frankfort is replaced.

Allen pointed out that the southeast portion of Frankfort is replaced. Allen pointed out that additional risk of cave-ins is being taken in replacing the line and said the company could not be expected to do the work for the original contract fee.

The board agreed to allow the construction firm to be on a time and material basis, thereby taking care of any extra labor involved.

When Is Bus A School Bus--That Is The Question

School and village authorities at New Lenox are endeavoring to work out some system whereby a bus hired by the PTA for hauling kindergarten pupils to the village school will be restricted to stops at designated spots so long as it is not marked according to provisions of the school code and a New Lenox ordinance.

Eugene McGovney, commissioner of Public safety, reported to the board that he and police have received numerous complaints about the operation of the bus hired by the PTA. The vehicle has no semaphore and flashing lights at front and rear calling on approaching vehicles to halt, as required on school buses, and the only way one can distinguish it from any other bus is that it carries a sign front and rear inscribed "School Bus."

Trustee Keith Hossack pointed out the signs are small and usually covered with dirt and as a result were indistinguishable.

Village and school officials are somewhat confused relative to the subject as a result of opinions coming from the office of the state department of public instruction at Springfield.

Commissioner McGovney got a letter to the effect that the bus in question would have to be equipped according to the school code. Then came a letter to the office of the county superintendent of schools to the effect that the bus in question was operating under an ICC permit, and so was not required to have the lights and other markings and equipment called for in the school bus code.

The only thing required, according to the letter, is that the driver of a bus hauling school children, but operating under an ICC permit, shall have a medical certificate showing him to be free of tuberculosis.

Relative to stopping for school buses the school code has this to say:

"The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of a business or residence district upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle before reaching such school bus when there is in operation on said school bus a visual signal as specified in Sec. 113.01 of 'An Act in relation to the regulation of traffic'...."

Sec. 113.01 reads:

"Every bus used for the transportation of school children to and from school, in addition to other equipment and distinctive markings required by this Act, shall be equipped with signal lamps mounted as high and as widely spaced laterally as practicable, which shall be capable of displaying to the front two alternately flashing yellow lights located at the same level, and to the rear two alternately flashing red lights located at the same level, and these lights shall have sufficient intensity to be visible at 500 feet in normal sunlight. Such signal lamps shall be connected to the brake pedal by means of a toggle switch and shall be disconnected when pupils are not being transported to or from their homes or school."

New Lenox has an ordinance requiring motorists approaching or overtaking a school bus to stop when the bus does, if the bus is properly marked and equipped with visual signals as required by the school code.

There is no restriction on passing ordinary buses when they are stopped, if there is room to get around. Such buses operate under ICC permits. The question now is if motorists are required to stop when such buses are being used to carry school children but are improperly marked. Some contend that if the buses are not properly marked and identified as school buses they are no different than other buses.

Will Install Minister, Council

The installation of members of the church council and the minister of St. John's United Church of Christ in Mokena will take place during the coming two weeks.

Church council members will be installed on Sunday, Jan. 15. Rev. T. C. Wimmer will be installed as pastor on Sunday, Jan. 22, at the 10:45 a.m. service. Rev. Hugo Leinberger, director of church extension and strategy for the North Illinois synod, will preach.

A pot luck dinner will follow the service in Fellowship hall for members and their friends. Each member is being asked to take a casserole dish or salad. The committee will furnish the meat, potato and rolls.

Dog Problem Stirs Mokena Board Member

Mokena hasn't gone to the dogs, but the dogs have come to Mokena according to Henry Schevlin, Village Board Member, who warns owners to keep their animals off the streets. Schevlin said the number of dogs allowed to run at will thru-out the village has caused a hazard to motorists and pedestrians alike. There have been no accidents or injuries reported, but complaints have been numerous.

The village ordinance covering dog licenses calls for all dogs to be kept on the premises of the owner and that violators will be prosecuted.

In the past, dogs found loose have been impounded and the owner notified. But, according to Schevlin, this practice has not been successful and is also costly. In the future the owners will be summoned to police court and penalized according to ordinance.

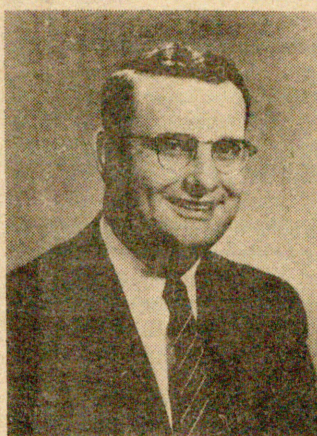

Indict Two Tinley Men

Two Tinley Park men were indicted by the January term of the Will county grand jury Friday when the jurors completed their session.

They are Arthur Darby, 21, 18037 Highland avenue, and Keith Palmer, 22. Each faces three separate charges, rape, armed robbery and burglary. Their bonds were set at $50,000 each.

They were arrested after a brutal attack on a Peotone township housewife on Thanksgiving Eve. The pair is charged with taking money and frozen food, criminally assaulting the woman and then pistol whipping her about the head and face. She was taken to a Manhattan physician for treatment of her wounds.

Darby and Palmer are being held in the Will county jail.

Pastor To Speak At Soil Dinner

BY VIRGINIA SASS
The Rev. William D. White, senior minister of the First Methodist Church of DeKalb serving Northern Illinois university, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the Will County Soil Conservation district, Thursday night, Jan. 19 in Marley Baptist Community church.

The Rev. Mr. White has chosen "Full Bins and Empty Stomachs" as the title of his program which will be illustrated with colored slides of his trip to the Holy Land in 1958.

The Rev. Mr. White received a B A degree from North Central college, Naperville, and took graduate work at Colorado University in Administrative Education, and at Northwestern university in the school of speech. He also has a bachelor of divinity degree from the Garrett Graduate School of Theology on the Northwestern campus.

In World War II he saw service in the Philippine Islands and Japan as a company commander and as information and education officer for occupational forces with specific duties of establishing schools for enlisted men.

He headed the English department and coached football at Bensenville high school for two years before entering the sem-

Man Dies When Freight Hits Auto On 143rd St. Crossing

A man was killed on the 143rd street crossing of the Wabash railroad at Orland Park Monday afternoon.

The victim was Charles Heckman, 61 years old, of 349 W. 106th St., Chicago. He had been employed as a mail clerk by the Andrew Corporation at Orland.

A part of his duties consisted of transporting mail to and from the plant and postoffice. He is said to have been returning to Orland Park from Oak Lawn with a bag of company mail. He was driving south on the Southwest highway, according to investigators, and at 143rd st. turned east, apparently bound for the postoffice.

It was 2:50 o'clock and a northbound freight train was approaching the crossing. It is possible, investigators said, that Heckman had turned the corner at such an angle that he may not have seen the warning flashing lights nor the approaching train in time, nor heard the bell. The locomotive struck the rear of Heckman's car and he was thrown out of the vehicle. Apparently he was instantly killed, as a result of head injuries.

There are no gates to guard this crossing and that fact was the source of a long interchange of communications between the village of Orland Park and the Wabash railroad. The village board insisted on gates, complaining that the warning lights that formerly served the crossing could not be seen on sunny days.

The Illinois commerce commission finally gave the railroad permission to change the lights to make them more easily seen. The ICC, however, refused to authorize the gates, stating that since the Wabash operated but a single track there was no need for gates. An ICC representative at that time pointed out that one of the main functions of crossing gates was to prevent persons waiting for a train to pass to start up and perhaps encounter a train coming from the opposite direction.

Orland Park police are investigating the accident.

Gives Up Office To Open Tavern

The village board members of Frankfort accepted, reluctantly the resignation of Trustee Amos (Ted) Massey at the meeting held Monday night in the village hall.

Massey, in a formal letter to the board, explained that he had obtained a liquor license for his property located at Routes 45 and 30. Since the Illinois Dram shop act prohibits a member of a village board to be the owner of a business dispensing any liquor, Massey said that to avoid any reflection on his integrity or that of the board he would resign.

He has served as a trustee for two years and his term would expire in 1963. Board President George Sangmeister said that Massey would be replaced in the 1961 election.

Members expressed regret at Massey's leaving and commended his efforts on the board during the past two years.

MRS. SHERWOOD

Director of the next play to be presented by the Lincoln-Way Community Players will be Mrs. Kenneth Sherwood, of Mokena, it was announced this week by Mrs. A. Hunter Chapman, New Lenox, president of the group.

The next play, incidentally, is to be staged March 14 and 15 in the Lincoln-Way high school auditorium. Tryouts are scheduled for Jan. 15.

"Kiss and Tell," a gay comedy involving the teenage group is the vehicle chosen by Mrs. Sherwood as the next production.

Six characters, ranging from 12 to 19 years old and nine adults are needed for the cast. Mrs. Sherwood invites all persons interested in acting to appear for the tryouts next Sunday. They will be held in the high school cafeteria, beginning at 3 o'clock.

"We aren't expecting professional actors," Mrs. Sherwood said, "But we may find some hidden talent and anyway those who tryout as well as those finally chosen for the cast will find a lot of enjoyment in the work."

SNOW LION - this was also the caption now should read melting snow lion for the sake of accuracy. The reason the photographer put his own hat on the lion's head was to give you an idea of the size of this winterized sculpture. The snow lion graced the yard of the Byron Hughes home, 106 Hawthorne rd., and was the project of three of the Hughes offspring, Robert, a sophomore at the University of Idaho; Richard, a sophomore at Lincoln-Way and Carol, an eighth grader at Haven school. It was Robert's idea and next year when he is home for the holidays he plans bigger things. He wants to make a snow elephant -- providing of course, there is snow.

Caucus Primary

Pick JP, Constable Candidates Monday

Registered Republican voters will select candidates for justices of the peace and constable next Monday Jan. 16, in a series of district primaries in Will County.

Frankfort and New Lenox townships are joined with Joliet and Troy townships to form the second district. Mokena voters will cast their ballots at the Cooper-Horstert garage; voters in the Frankfort village area will vote at the Frankfort village hall; New Lenox voters will vote at the fire engine house.

All voters in the Republican caucus will be asked to sign an affidavit that they called for a Republican ballot in the primary election.

The polling places will be open from noon to 7 p.m. This will be the first time justices of the peace will be elected under a new state law.

Under the new law J.P.'s are no longer township officials. Those elected this spring will be officers of the county and Will county will pay their salaries, $9,000 a year, plus office rent and expenses and an allowance of $3,000 a year for a clerk.

Justices of the peace will no longer retain fees as they have under township status. The constables, however, will continue to serve on a fee basis.

In Will county there will be seven justices of the peace elected on April 4, three from this, the second district; two in Dist. 1 which is made up of Lockport, Homer, DuPage, Plainfield and Wheatland townships, and one each in the other two districts. Dist. 3 is made up of Channahon, Jackson, Wilmington, Manhattan, Florence, Wilton, Reed, Custer and Wesley townships.

Dist. 4 is made up of Green Garden, Monee, Crete, Peotone Will and Washington townships.

In the entire county there are 28 candidates for justice of the peace and 21 seek the seven posts for constables.

There are three candidates running in the GOP caucus in this area, Grant B. Lambrecht associated with Herbert Lambrecht in the Lambrecht Agency (insurance and real estate), of Frankfort; Herbert P. Folkers, also of Frankfort, an attorney and now serving the village of Frankfort as police magistrate, and Anthony A. Dina, of Mokena, civil defense director and operator of a bar-

Scout Council Wages War On Obscene Comic Books

A scathing indictment of obscene and violent comic books was made today by John F. Ritter, chief executive of Rainbow Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"The trash contained in some comic books is a definite treat to the morals of our youngsters, he charged. "Even comic books that do not contain objectionable material often give an unrealistic picture of life which could easily warp a child's future."

The local Scout council is not sitting idle; it is going all-out to do its part to combat the comic book threat to the youngsters of its Scout units, Ritter explained.

First fruit of its efforts thus far has been a citation from Lloyd Eberhart, editor of "Boys Life," the official publication of the National Boy Scout council.

The citation lauded the local council for its outstanding contribution to "character building thru the development of proper reading habits" during the past year.

Devices used by council officials in promoting good reading practices include the encouraging of boys to work toward earning the reading merit badge; encouraging them to subscribe to official Scout publications or those approved by the Scouting organization, and the promotion of the reading achievement awards in the Cub Scout programs.

Rainbow Council ranks third out of the 540 councils in the nation for the percentage of subscriptions to the Boy Scout journal, he said.

The monthly Scouting magazine publishes a balanced diet of adventure fiction articles, fact stories, do-it-yourself articles, and comics - the kind that "inform as well as entertain," according to the national Scouting council.

Requirements of a rugged seven-point reading program must be met in full for a Scout to obtain the reading merit badge.

"Any boy who wins this merit badge will have a well-rounded knowledge of the stuff that makes good reading material," the scout executive said.

Briefly, the merit badge requirements are as follows:

1. Read at least 12 books in a year, subjects to include fiction, adventure, history, biography, technical or scientific travel, poetry and arts and hobbies.
2. Know the places in the community where books may be borrowed or purchased and have a library card.
3. Read books, pamphlets and magazines pertaining to your hobby.
4. Start a personal library.
5. Report on newspapers and news magazines and keep posted on current events.
6. Subscribe to or be a regular reader of a magazine.
7. Locate and deliver reading material to shut-ins or sick persons and render service to your school or public library.

The Cub Scout reading program is aimed at youngsters in the 8 to 10 age group, and is naturally less intensive, Ritter said. To receive the Cub reading award, the scout must list 12 books suited for reading by his age group; read at least two of them; and learn how to repair the covers and bindings of books.

"By encouraging these programs among our Scouts, we feel that we are at least doing something to combat the comic book influence," Ritter asserted.

Rainbow Council, a partner member of the community chest, is composed of Grundy, Kankakee, and Will counties.

SEMMLER NEWSPAPERS Thursday, January 12, 1961 Page 3 1960 Illinois Corn Crop Averages 68-Bu. An Acre

Illinois farmers produced 697 million bushels of corn during the 1960 season, an average yield of 68 bushels per acre. This was only one bushel below the all-time record established in 1958.

This information was contained in the Illinois Annual Crop Summary prepared by the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service, jointly sponsored by the Illinois Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Joseph A. Ewing, agricultural statistician, pointed out that the soybean crop in 1960 was the second largest from an acreage standpoint.

Top acreage for soybeans was in 1958 when 5,066,000 acres were under cultivation. The 1960 acreage was 4,973,000.

Soybean harvest amounted to 129 million bushels, with an average per acre yield of 26.0 bushels. Highest average yield 28.5 bushels in 1956.

Wheat production was estimated at 46.2 million bushels, compared with 43.2 million bushels. The yield of 29.0

bushels per acre was considerably below the 37.5 bushels established in 1956. Yields were generally good, but rust and smut infestation caused some drops around the state.

Oats yielded an average of 51 bushels per acre in 1960. The record yield was 56 bushels per acre in 1955. The 1.8 million acres of oats harvested in 1960 was the lowest since 1877.

Hay production attained a record high with 2.08 tons per acre. Hay yields were 4,568,000 tons and 2,193,000 acres were under cultivation. Helping to boost this year's record, despite some early cutting losses, was a record yield of 2.50 tons per acre of alfalfa and alfalfa mixtures.

Popcorn attained a high yield for the 10-year period 1949-58 with 55,200,000 pounds gleaned from 24,000 acres.

Let's Keep Guantanamo Base

If the tactics of Fidel Castro are irritating to the people of the United States and various of the Latin American countries, think of what they must be to a large segment of the Cuban population.

Thousands of Cubans have slipped out of their native land to find asylum in this and neighboring countries and news dispatches last week stated some 50,000 were seeking visas to give them legitimate entry into the United States. It was a blow to them when we broke diplomatic ties with the communistic Castro government.

Dictators, like magicians, rely heavily on misdirection for the success of their acts. The magician diverts attention to his left hand so that the audience pays no attention to his right, and it's the right hand that's doing the business.

Castro while making life miserable for his people insists he brings them only joy, that their woes are entirely due to the machinations of the United States. For weeks now he has been telling the Cubans that their country is to be invaded by the United States.

Last week he began posting artillery all around the island to repel the Yankees. Castro knows the U. S. has no intention of invading Cuba. But the cry of to arms, to arms, death to the invaders serves to divert attention from his own tyrannies. Until last week he might have invaded Cuba himself to make the threat good but now with all the guns around he is not likely to try it. He might shoot himself.

How far he may go in attempting to get the U. S. to give up its naval base at Guantanamo is disturbing. President Eisenhower has said the United States will retain the base that we have built under treaty. It is to be hoped that when Mr. Kennedy takes office as President he will be equally firm.

If we should surrender our base at Guantanamo we would only be inviting trouble in Panama and other spots as well. Such an act on our part would likely be construed as weakness, not only by our foes but our friends as well. It is conceivable that if we gave up our Guantanamo base the Russians might decide we don't mean what we say in the Monroe Doctrine, and elect to move in there.

The overthrow of Castro would be of considerable aid. And so we wish his opposition will and trust any trouble Fidel may encounter will not be trivial.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

With inaugurations, inaugural balls and attendant receptions, cocktail parties and kindred binges blossoming out about the country like dandelions in front yards in the spring, the question of dress becomes uppermost in many minds.

There was a time when such political-social events would have been a bonanza for the tailoring trade. That was way back when people owned the clothes they appeared in. Nowadays, it seems, most formal apparel is rented.

Persevering reporters covering the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II came up with the fact that the lords and ladies whom law and custom require them to attend such an event clad in ermine and gold-trimmed robes, and wearing coronets, tiaras and jewels, are unable or unwilling to accrue such an expense for such infrequent occasions and so turn to costumers for their outfits.

And if the ermine, and the gold, and the jewels were on the phony side they were only in keeping with the powers of royalty.

At the inauguration of the President, of course, many of those attending will have their own clothes. This is particularly true of the staffs of foreign embassies. Silk topers, cutaway coats, gray, striped trousers, wing collars, ascots, patent leather shoes, spats, tails, dinner coats, et cetera, are the working clothes of diplomats.

But there are a lot of congressmen, senators, bureaucrats, job-holders and job-seekers named Joe and many others who find it more economical to rent formal finery than to buy it.

This, of course, does not cause the tailors to send up three rousing cheers and go about their work humming gay tunes.

On the other hand the tailors should be getting used to this by now. It is not known to this department whether any of the various divisions of the federal department of commerce have made a check on how many persons in the U. S. own formal clothing. It would be strange if such figures are not available because the U. S. Dept. of Commerce misses few opportunities of sticking its nose into people's business.

Tails, once a must for certain occasions, were pretty much shelved at the time of World War I and have never made a real comeback. The dinner coat or tuxedo was found to be more comfortable and economical and men said—that's for me, wives and clothiers notwithstanding.

IN HOMETOWN AMERICA

And having gone that far, men went even further. Why put a lot of money in clothes worn once in a blue moon, men began to figure. They also took into consideration the possibility if not probability that table tactics will have caused them to become too stout between wearings, thus necessitating a new outfit.

The answer, of course, is the rented suit. It may not fit as it should but after a clutch of martinis and a few on the rocks who notices and if they do—who cares.

Men get married in rented clothes; they attend weddings in rented clothes; they attend formal balls and receptions in rented clothes, and I know of one case where a fellow was such a good customer of a rental firm that when he died the proprietor of the place urged the family to keep the dinner coat and the man was buried in it.

According to the papers President-elect Kennedy has decreed silk hat, and striped pants for the inauguration and while white tie is preferred for the inaugural balls, dinner coats are permissible.

Probably all the rental firms on the eastern seaboard will be represented at the Washington parties, as well as those doing business in other parts of the country. This is a national affair and everyone will be there.

While the tailors may suffer from lack of sales the inaugurations in the capital and the various states will be an el dorado for the designers and the vendors of women's clothes.

Men may wear rented clothes but no woman would be found dead in such garments.

They will be going strictly deluxe — so hurry man. If you haven't got your better borrow because you are going to need a bundle.

Or do you have one of those super credit cards?

Business & Finance

By Maurice P. Angland

The student of the business picture for 1961, is presented with a mass of forecasts and analysis of economic events of the past year.

George Cline Smith, vice president and chief economist of F. W. Dodge Corporation, is a recognized expert on the trends in home building and other lines of construction.

An interview with Mr. Smith is reported in U. S. News & World Report of Jan. 2, 1961.

He points out that construction is by far the country's largest fabricating industry — amounting for 11 per cent of gross national product and maintenance and repair account for another five per cent of gross national product.

Mr. Smith expects home and apartment building to increase about two per cent over 1960 figures. He points out that in times of general business slow down, interest rates ease and housing activity has actually increased.

As to costs of building, he expects costs to rise slightly. This, he believes, will be largely due to the three year labor contracts with annual wage increases in the contracts. His estimate is a 15 to 20 cents per hour increase in the building trades.

On possible reduction in building costs, Mr. Smith states "Is the cost of anything really likely to come down in the long run?"

"I really believe that inflationary tendencies are dominant in our economy, and that they will continue even though we may have a few short-term downturns in price levels. I think inflation is the long term trend. I think it has always been — ever since recorded history began."

Mr. Smith expects road building and other governmental spending to expand. He points out that a pressing need now is for high school and college construction. Government aid in this field is likely to expand such construction.

Interviews reported, point out need to build the equivalent of the Chicago metropolitan area every two years just to take care of additional population. Rents and taxes are expected to creep upward.

Security analysts have been noting the increase buying of common stocks by institutional investors. Some analysts have been forecasting a rise in the price-earnings ratio of the types of stocks usually selected by such institutional investors.

Price-earnings ratio is defined as the number of times a firm's annual earnings must be multiplied to equal the market price.

In this regard, it must be remembered that institutional investors are not investing for the "short swing", but rather for the long term. This tends to reduce the volume of such shares available for trading. This would refer only to the institutional type investments.

Financial World reports that the institutional type investor now accounts for 24 per cent of the total volume of New York Stock Exchange and this figure was less than 23 per cent a year ago. This marks the seventh consecutive year in which the institutional volume has risen in relation to total volume on the New York Stock Exchange.

In 1955, volume of dealings of mutual funds, pension funds, profit sharing, insurance firms, and banks, were nine per cent of total volume.

During most recent period surveyed, this group bought more than sold even though prices were falling.

Countryside News And Views

BY: JAMES FIZZELL,
ASS'T. FARM ADVISOR

Winter is a good time to plan for attractive home grounds. There is little that can be done outdoors during this season, and there is sufficient time to plan carefully before the planting season comes around.

In planning a home grounds, the two primary aims to keep in mind are utility and attractiveness. Utility is the convenient layout of drives, walks and other parts of the landscape that affect the uses which the home grounds perform. Attractiveness involves the orderly arrangement of the parts into a harmonious unit. Most homeowners consider these aims when planning their landscaping, however, a systematic course of action is not always followed. The first step in developing the home grounds is a plan. A well thought out plan not only assures continuity of design, but can save a considerable sum which would be spent in trial and error planting. It is far easier to move a plant on paper than it is to move one which has been growing in the yard.

Proper selection and placement of plants can eliminate a good deal of work in maintaining a planting once it is established. As an example, a shrub border gives the same privacy as a closely pruned hedge, but requires far less work. Shrub borders also provide more color and interest than a trimmed hedge. Careful planning also facilitates the developing of the home plantings, one area at a time over several years rather than necessitating planting of the entire grounds in one season and at the same time keeps the grounds useful and attractive.

Before arriving at a plan, read any literature available on landscaping. Magazines and books as well as newspaper articles and circulars are excellent sources of information. Make a scale drawing of the home and grounds as they now are. Show exact locations of each object. Divide the grounds into areas of use: service, public, and private.

The public area, lying between the street and the house, might consist of a large open lawn, a foundation planting to make the house blend with the surrounding landscape, and a few trees to provide framing and shade for the front of the house.

The lawn area provides an open vista to the house, which is the primary center of interest in the entire plan.

The service area, comprising the garage, drive, incinerator, clothes-drying area, and walk to the kitchen, is used for carrying out various duties involved in keeping the home. Since the kitchen is always the starting point for these activities, all parts of the service area should be readily accessible from the kitchen door. Usually the most appropriate location for this area is at one side of the house.

The private area, set aside for the personal enjoyment of the family, may be called the outdoor living room. It may include a terrace, the flower and vegetable gardens, children's play area, and a large open lawn.

Trees and shrubs are used to separate the private areas from the other areas and from neighboring properties. They will serve as a screen in addition to providing shade and color for the family's enjoyment.

With the locations of all plantings in mind select proper plants to fit the various locations. This problem is not easily solved. Use of the aforementioned literature should enable selection of plants that will provide interesting texture effects, succession of bloom, winter interest and provide the desired screening and shade.

A list of landscape bulletins, available from the Farm Adviser's Office will be sent upon request.

The Upper Room

Read Matthew 25:14-21

The Lord said, Whereunto then shall I liken the men of this generation? ... They are like unto children sitting in the marketplace, and calling one to another, and saying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced. (Luke 7:31,32)

To her students of drama and speech, Agnes Futterer used to say again and again, "Think your part." It was good advice then. It is good advice now.

To make of life a drama of delight and usefulness it is necessary to saturate ourselves with thoughts of fulfillment rather than with thoughts of failure. God overarches our highest aspirations and undergirds our lowliest talent. Sometimes His plan and purpose we cannot comprehend, but this we know - He is always near. God gave to Joshua the divine reassurance: "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."

God is always near; however, it is only as we acknowledge Him and commune with Him that He can give to our lives personal, positive direction. "In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

PRAYER: Eternal God, in the great drama of life, help us to act in accordance with the instruction and spirit of Christ, our divine director. Thus may our talents be released for the uplifting of people everywhere. In His name, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

As we acknowledge God and commune with Him, He gives us personal, positive direction. Ernest R. Case (Massachusetts)

The Depew, N.Y., Herald and News ran a one-line editorial commenting on the closeness of the Nov. 8 Presidential election. All it said was: "WHEW—and you think your vote doesn't count?"

Aliens Must Register At Postoffices

Alva L. Pilliod, district director of the immigration and naturalization service, advised that the annual alien address report program is again under way.

He pointed out that the address reports are required by law and willful failure to comply with these requirements may lead to serious consequences.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all post offices and immigration offices. It is an easy matter to fill out one of the cards and return it to the same office.

Mr. Pilliod added that trained personnel will be on hand in all immigration offices to answer any questions the reporting aliens may have regarding immigration and naturalization matters. Sufficient trained personnel are not available to furnish this service in all post offices.

Report Of Chest X-Rays Taken In South Suburbs

In an effort to ferret out unknown cases of tuberculosis during the summer of 1960, 110,545 persons in suburban communities were examined thru mobile chest x-ray units that traveled thruout Cook county.

Of the number x-rayed there were 2,650 listed with suspect TB findings on their films. Further diagnosis is made before the number of actual TB cases found is released. There were more TB suspects discovered last year than in 1959, 652 to use figures supplied by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook county.

This does not necessarily mean there is actually that much more TB in Cook county, according to Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, field director. "Most of this increase," he said, "must be credited to better case-detection methods."

In 25 South Cook county towns included in the 1960 survey a total of 24,584 x-rays were taken. Evergreen Park topped the list with 3,885. Out of this number 70 were listed as TB suspects. The total number of TB suspects found in the south suburbs were 546.

Those preparing the survey report point out that the number of TB suspects found do not necessarily reside in the community where they were x-rayed, also they are counted in the number of x-rays taken there. The number of x-rays taken in Tinley Park was 734 and the number of TB suspects out of such list is placed at 17.

In Country Club Hills four suspects were reported; 178 persons had chest x-rays there. At Orland Park the number of persons x-rayed was 502 and the number of TB suspects, three. At Palos Heights the number examined was 657; the number of suspects, 16. At Lemont 755 persons were examined and 29 listed as suspects. A like number of suspects was listed at Oak Lawn where 1,916 persons were examined.

In Blue Island the number x-rayed was 3,693 and at Chicago Heights 3,189. The number of TB suspects found in these two communities were 84 and 80 respectively.

In Markham the number examined was 472; the number of suspects, eight. At Riverdale the number examined was 656; the number of suspects, 22. Homewood had 679 persons examined and 14 were found to be TB suspects; at Harvey it was 1,935 and 60.

L-W Beats Homewood To Keep SWS Lead

NOT THRU THE IRON DUKES these Homewood-Flossmoor players may be saying but Lincoln-Way's Lichtenwalter, No. 42, pays no mind to such chatter. He just put a little english on the ball and spun it around the opposition into the hands of teammate who darted out just in time. The Lincolns won but it was a tough go and the game went into overtime.

School Employees Over 30 Must Get Chest X Rays

School employees in Will county will have an opportunity to get a chest x-ray examination between Jan. 17-25, inclusive it was announced by County Supt. Verne E. Crackel.

The state law requires that all school employees who come in contact with any pupil must have an annual examination to make certain he or she is free of TB. No person known to be suffering from tuberculosis in a communicable form may be employed in a school system in Illinois.

The exams will be conducted by a team with a mobile x-ray unit furnished thru the cooperation of the Will county health and state health departments and the Will-Grundy County Medical Society. The unit will x-ray only those employees over 30 years of age. Each person examined is to furnish the name of his or her family physician when the x-ray is taken, the family physician will be notified should the x-ray show positive.

Results of the x-ray is to be filed with the secretary or clerk of the employing school board within 90 days, but not before April 1, 1961 to comply with the legal requirement for the 1961-62 school year.

School employees in New Lenox, Frankfort and Manhattan townships are to take such examination Jan. 20, at Joliet. The unit will be located on Herkimer street (the eastern) side of Joliet high school. Hours will be from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Employees of schools in the eastern part of Will County (including Green Garden) will take their examinations Jan.

18, at Crete high school age building, from 1 to 6 p.m.

Employees of private schools should go to the location of the unit nearest their school.

Employees are reminded to take good care of the reports to be filled with the employing board because duplicates are not made. If one loses his report before time to file then another examination will be necessary.

Bernardin, And Daughter Hurt In Crash

Joseph Bernardin, operator of a floral business bearing his name on Wolf road, Mokena, suffered a broken arm, and his 10-year-old daughter Nancy had a sprained left hand and bruises as a result of an automobile accident last Sunday (Jan. 8) on U. S. 30 at Center ave.

Bernardin was enroute Chicago Heights to deliver some flowers and was accompanied on the errand by Nancy. As he approached Center ave., a small sport car in front of him suddenly stopped preparatory to making a left turn.

To avoid striking the smaller car Bernardin took to the ditch where he struck a culvert abutment. The car was badly damaged.

Bernardin and his daughter were taken to Silver Cross hospital in a West End ambulance. There it was found he had a broken right arm, numerous bruises and some cuts about the head. The sprained hand and bruises appeared to be all that ailed Nancy.

After receiving treatment the two were released and brought home.

DEDICATE STREET

An ordinance dedicating 33 feet for street purposes along the Rock Island tracks on the sewer treatment plant site was adopted by the New Lenox village board at its meeting last week. The action clears the way for the Public Service Co. to install lights there.

UNUSUAL SHOT in that no one has laid a hand on either Ronald Yunker, No. 20 on the Lincoln-Way squad, or the ball. This would indicate that the ball is going over the backboard and out of bounds or it is dead center for the webbing and there isn't anything anyone can do about it. No. 54 of Homewood-Flossmoor appears to be quite relaxed.

IT JUST LOOKS LIKE BALLET -- actually these lads are playing basketball and all those hands and arms you see thrust up in the air would like to have hold of the ball that at this fraction of a second was out of the camera's view. No. 32 is Duane Warning. Incidentally Warning played a whale of a game for Lincoln-Way and when he fouled out the lead held by the Knights dwindled swiftly and the game finally went into overtime. The victory, however, keeps Lincoln-Way on top in the league.

NI-Gas Goes Push Button

Northern Illinois Gas Company has signed a contract with the Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Company for an H-800 computer, according to W. J. Crowley, vice-president and controller of the utility.

Delivery of the data processing system early in 1963 will coincide with the scheduled completion of the utility's general office building at the northeast corner of Route 59 and the East - West Tollway, east of Aurora.

First use of the new system will provide more efficient billing and accounting for the rapidly growing customer list -- expected to be about 800,000 in 1963.

The new computer also will make possible improved accounting methods for the huge plant investments planned for the utility's service area, Payroll and other accounting applications, including maintenance of the files of approximately 110,000 stockholders, will be scheduled to follow later.

"The new computer system will permit better scheduling of work and is readily expandable so that future growth will not require frequent, expensive change-over costs from one system to another," Crowley said. "In addition, it will have sufficient capacity to assist in solving the many engineering, economic and research problems that we must solve to provide sound decisions for future actions."

"The operating efficiency to be gained by using this latest 'management tool,'" he added, "is another step in line with NI-Gas' policy of providing the best possible service in the most economical manner."

Knights Snatch 69-66 Victory In Overtime League Contest

By BILL SLUIS

The Lincoln-Way Knights had to come from behind four times and were forced to play an overtime, but the end result Friday night was a 69-66 victory over the Homewood-Flossmoor Vikings. Hero of the game was Skip Kruzich, who tied the game 62-62 shortly before the end of the fourth quarter with a 35 foot one-hander. Skip also put in the winning points on a 20 foot jump shot in the overtime period.

The first quarter saw Lincoln-Way jump to an immediate lead, but the Vikings caught and passed the Knights to hold a 17-14 advantage at quarter's end. Homewood lengthened its lead in the second period and led 36-32 at intermission time. Duane Warning and Tom Swanson led the flustering pace with 15 points each in the opening half.

The Vikings lost their offensive punch in the third quarter and Lincoln-Way took swift advantage. Duane Warning's ten-footer with 2:35 remaining put the Knights on top 43-42. The Lincoln-Way assault continued with a 20-footer by Kruzich, two charities by Warning, a free toss by Waldvogel, and a bucket by Bob Lichtenwalter. At the conclusion of the third lap Lincoln-Way led 50-45.

Lincoln-Way nearly scored the haymaker at the opening of the final quarter. Skip Kruzich came downcourt and dumped in a 33 footer from the right side. Moments later Skip hit another identical shot from the left side to put Lincoln-Way ahead 54-45. The Vikings were gasping and called time out. It looked as if the Knights might sail to an easy victory. Then, with 5:29 showing on the board, Duane Warning fouled out of the game.

Warning's exit rallied the Viking forces. On buckets by Ed Didrickson, Dave Maga, and Bob Allison, plus gift tosses by Ray Brower and Didrickson, the visitors came churning back. With 2:57 showing, Tom Swanson of Homewood stole the ball and raced downcourt for a layup and put the Vikings on top 57-56. With 2:11 to go Ed Didrickson netted a layup and a free toss to make it 60-56 for Homewood.

Lincoln-Way came back on a layup by Skip Kruzich, but H-F regained a four point edge on tip-in by Bob Allison. The Vikings led 62-58 with 1:16 on the wall. But with 1:08 showing in red, Bucky McMorris fouled Skip Kruzich. The Skipperaced his charities to put L-W within two marks. As 0:40 flicked by Al Waldvogel stole the ball and gave Lincoln-Way possession. The game tying blow fell with 24 seconds remaining, when Skip Kruzich flipped a 35-footer through the cords. The clock ran out with 62 on both sides of the board.

Homewood took an immediate lead in the overtime on a layup by Ed Didrickson. But with 2:04 left, Bob Lichtenwalter tied the game 64-64 on two free throws. As the clock flashed 1:55, Didrickson scored another basket and put the Vikings on top 66-64. Lincoln-Way was still behind when the final minute began. But with 0:53, Al Waldvogel made a free throw to put the Knights within one. With 44 seconds of play remaining Skip Kruzich hit a 20-footer from the top of the key to put L-W ahead 67-66. Ron Cramer iced the game for Lincoln-Way by scoring two free throws after a foul by Dave Maga, as the clock showed 0:11. The final score stood Knights 69, Vikings, 66.

The victory moved the Lincoln-Way Knights into sole possession of the SouthWest Suburban Conference lead. Homewood is tied for second spot with Bremen.

Two SouthWest Suburban clashes are scheduled for Lincoln-Way this weekend. Friday night will see the Knights journeying to Midlothian to battle the Bremen Braves. On Saturday evening the Knights will return to the home hardwood for an encounter with the Evergreen Park Mustangs. SWS game times are 6:30 for the Frosh-soph and 8:00 for the varsity games.

SPC Reveals Park Pavilion Plans, Cost

Questionnaires sent out by the SPC in its original poll have revealed interest in a park pavilion, it was announced at the January meeting of the group held Thursday, Jan. 12.

Tentative plans specify a building 97 by 32 feet which can be constructed in sections of 24 by 32 feet. There is a possibility of a fireplace on either end of the structure.

The committee felt that there was expense and danger involved in an open fireplace. Portable or stationary grills could be installed at a cost of $45 each.

The pavilion can be constructed with the possibility of enclosing it at some future date. Cost of a building of this type would be approximately $2,500 per square foot or about $9,000.

The SPC plans to present the specifications and information to the various organizations of the community.

The down payment for the site of the park was made thru individuals, organizations, and various fund raising projects. The final payment was made from the proceeds of the Frankfort Centennial five years ago.

Thursday's meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Irving Rudman, Frankfort. Present were Janet Page of the Methodist WSCS; Arlene Heisner, Royal Neighbors; Norman Ferrell, Woman's Club; Clyde Reils, village board members and Methodist Men's club; Glenn Schroeder, St. Peter's Brotherhood; Lorraine Robinson, Scherrill Weichbrodt and Mrs. Rudman.

The committee has purchased 37 trees for the park from Joel Johnson and Raymond Eisenbrandt, local nurserymen. They will be planted before budding time of this year and will range in size from 1 1/4 to 3 1/2 inches in diameter. The various kinds of trees include maples-sugar, silver, norway, amur and Crimsomking; imperial locust, Washington Hawthorne, green ashes and pine. Also one each of the following mountain ash, tulip tree, pin oak and American Linden.

Community calendars, which were a former project of the spc, will continue to be on sale during the month of January. Proceeds will be used toward the cost of the trees. The calendars list the meeting dates and time of the various local organizations.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY BETTENHAUSEN

Couple Retires After 35 Years In Business

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bettenhausen are retiring after spending 35 years in business in Tinley Park.

Owners of Bettenhausen Hardware store on Oak Park ave., they plan to vacation in Florida for an indefinite period, where they purchased a new home last year in Pompano Beach, Ft. Lauderdale.

Natives of the area, they were farmers before entering business.

The store was opened on March 10, 1934, occupying a small space in the present building which they purchased in 1939.

Expansion was made during the years and the former post office occupied the space now being used for display of appliances.

Also associated with them since the business was started is Henry's brother, Emil.

The three were engaged in the operation of the Tinley Park Real Estate Improvement Corporation which operated for ten years before being dissolved.

The first home built by the corporation was their own home at 6822 W. 173rd pl., where their family of three sons and one daughter, now married, grew up.

Thru the years Mrs. Bettenhausen has been active in the business while rearing a family.

Since announcing their retirement, the business is now being operated as Bettenhausen Hardware Company, with the forming of a corporation.

Though retiring, the couple's interest in the business will continue. Henry Sr. is the company president. All of their children and Mrs. Bettenhausen will serve on the board of directors, she and sons Milford and Robert as vice presidents; and Henry Jr. as secretary-treasurer. Their daughter Mrs. Marie Stege, is a member of the board.

The sons will operate the business; Milford the eldest as plumbing contractor; Robert, their second son, will manage the hardware business; and their youngest son, Henry Jr., the appliance department. Emil will continue as heating contractor.

The couple who have been married for 39 years, do not plan to spend all of their time basking in the Florida sunshine. Henry is looking forward to continuing some business activity and perhaps engaging in some social and civic work. Both plan to entertain their family and friends in their Florida home, and will leave for there this month.

Jr. College Survey Group Prepares Community Data

Members of the community junior college survey committee are preparing descriptive histories of their various communities. Each community has characteristics of its own. A careful study of these community characteristics is essential in determining the educational needs of a community and in planning to meet these needs. It is necessary to know the basic facts of the economic life of the community as it is now, and as it is likely to be ten years or even twenty years from now. It is also important to answer such questions as; is the basic economy of the community such as to indicate steady economic growth? relative stability? Progressive decline? erratic fluctuation? Such information is necessary to predict local school financial resources.

The determination of the nature and size of the population is of the utmost importance. Population growth and decline will be studied. The percentage of young married couples will also be considered from the viewpoint of future school enrollments. The direction of population growth is also important.

Members of the committee will be asked to describe the social services available in their community. They will be asked whether or not their community has adequate health facilities and services, recreational opportunities, churches, and civic organizations, among other things.

The study of transportation is an important part of this community study, as the services of local and long distance transportation facilities greatly affect the growth of a community and the ability to avail itself of opportunities within commuting distances.

In determining the educational needs of the area, a careful study is being made of the educational aspirations of the juniors in the local high schools. How many intend to go on to college after graduation? How many have the ability and the means? Do their parents support their educational aspirations? In what areas do they expect to major? Do they expect to be employed in their communities?

The committee will also do a follow-up study of students already graduated. Such questions will be asked as: How adequate was your high school education in preparing you for your life's work? Did you go on to any college or training school after graduation from high school? Would you like to have additional training now? In what field are you presently employed?

Answers to question such as these will help the survey committee to determine the educational needs of the community. The study of industrial, agricultural and business needs of the area are also to be considered from the viewpoint of how well the young people of the community are prepared educationally to fill the opportunities for employment in this total area.

The committee will also identify obstacles which prevent students who desire further education from being able to fulfill their desires. This is frequently associated with such factors as distance, financial ability, parental disinterest in further education, and indecision on the part of students regarding their chosen careers.

Bond Company Hires New Firm To Complete School

The New Lenox grade school board has let a new contract to complete the addition to Oakview school after the original contractor failed to finish the job.

The new contracting firm is the Chicago Heights Const. Co. The original contractor, Nord Co., was to have finished the addition by Sept. 15. There was a penalty clause in the contract that he was to pay the school district $100 a day for every day the job ran beyond Sept. 15.

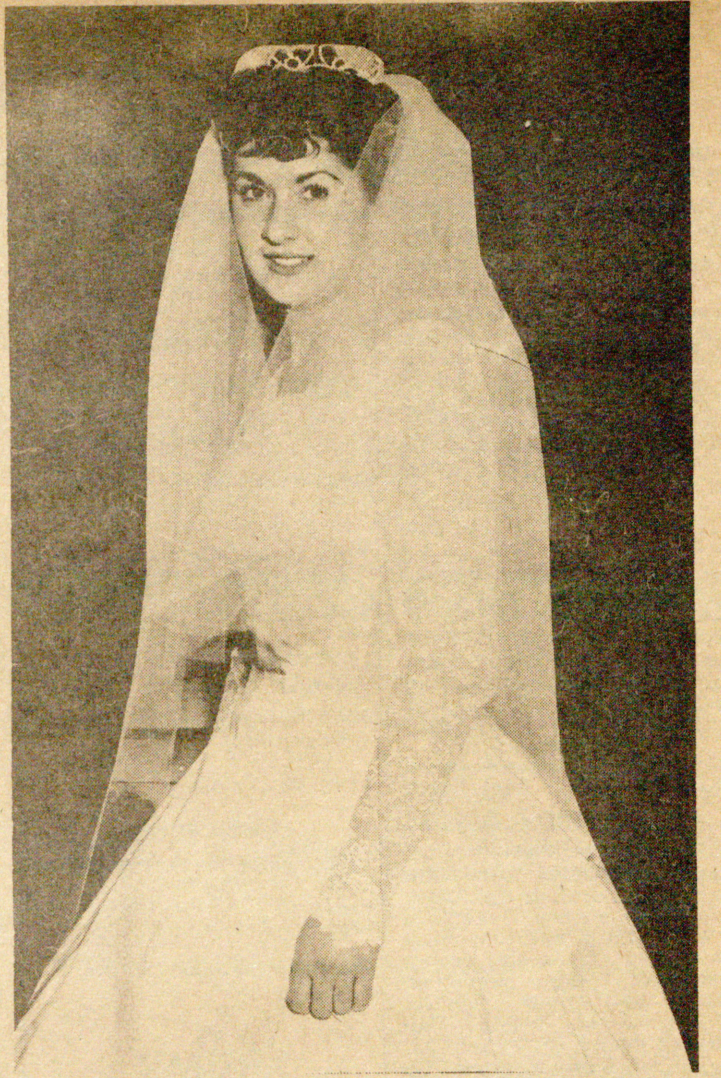

Nord Co. quit in October so the school board turned to the bonding company that had issued the performance bond on Nord.

Completing the job will not cost the taxpayers of the district any money, the board pointed out, as the new contractor will be paid by the bonding company. It is estimated the cost will be approximately $45,000.

As a matter of fact, according to a board spokesman, the district stands to realize about $12,000 in penalties before the addition is completed.

The addition contains five class rooms, a gymnasium, an auditorium and space for four more class rooms.
